

Epic Bastogne Seige Still Vivid

Ultimatum Still Angers McAuliffe

WASHINGTON (AP)—Even after 20 years, the words on the yellowed sheet of paper made the old soldier mad.

"It was the last sentence, that lousy last sentence that did it," growled Gen. Anthony C. McAuliffe today as he reread the German surrender ultimatum delivered to him in surrounded Bastogne.

The German commander gave McAuliffe two hours to surrender his 101st Airborne Division and the Belgian town it held. After that, the German warned, massed Nazi artillery would "annihilate the U.S.A. troops in and near Bastogne."

Then came the German wind-up sentence — the one that stung McAuliffe because he felt it held a sneer.

It said: "All the serious civilian losses caused by this artillery fire would not correspond with the well-known American humanity."

On impulse, the hard-jawed commander of the "Battered Bastards of Bastogne" replied with one defiant word — "Nuts."

That reply made McAuliffe a living legend of World War II.

Now 66 and retired from the Army and a big chemical company, the veteran paratrooper general talked about the epic siege as he sat in his comfortable apartment, high above a busy Washington avenue.

Though his hair and bristling eyebrows are iron gray, he still wears a cheery air of command.

The Battle of the Bulge, of which the Bastogne siege was a pivotal episode, started at dawn 20 years ago Wednesday.

That was when the badly wounded German army, after retreating grudgingly since the Normandy invasion the previous June, launched its last-spasm offensive through the snow-cloaked Ardennes Forest. On Hitler's orders, Nazi panzers and infantry drove at the American line in a bid to split the Allied front and reach Antwerp.

Before long McAuliffe found himself defending Bastogne, a small cobbled village, with 14,000 men — an assortment of paratroopers, tankers, artillery men.

"Bastogne was the hub of a very important road net," McAuliffe said. "If we denied that town to the Germans, it would

Pay Raises Under Study By Council

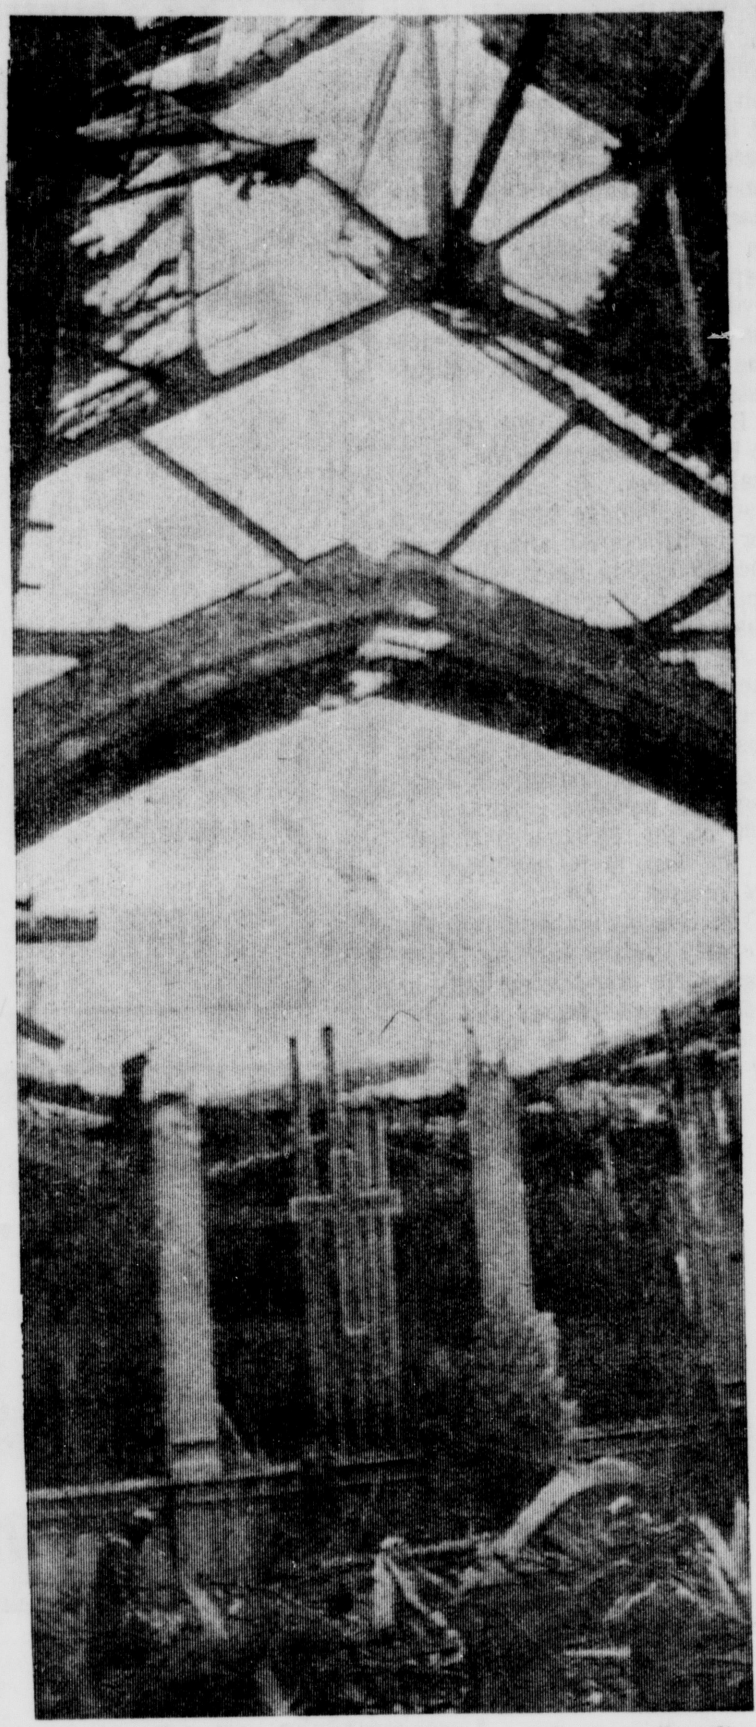

City Council and Mayor L. L. Studer met Monday night in private caucus to discuss pay increases for appointive city employees from the revenue derived from the new $1-per-month garbage collection fee, but proposed raises are yet to be finalized.

Mayor L. L. Studer said Tuesday morning that no definite decision was reached, but he added the council will be ready to announce raises granted at the next regular council meeting on Monday, Dec. 21. All members of the council were on hand for the session in Studer's office at City Hall.

The council will have approximately $84,000 per annum at their disposal based on projection of the first month's billing by the Water Department. After deduction of the Water Department's $400 per month collection fee, the November billing was revealed as $7,006. This total over a 12-month-period would amount to $84,072.

The garbage fee was intended originally to provide pay increases, the employment of a full-time industrial director and for equipment purchases for city departments. Mayor Studer said in proposing the ordinance last July that there are "106 rank and file city employees receiving an average pay of $1.35 per hour and eight supervisory employees receiving an average of $380 per month."

Some disagreement on the council's awarding of pay increases was already hinted Tuesday morning as representatives of the Fire Department have been seeking a $35-per-month increase for its employees. The Police Department has proposed $25 a month across the board.

To Break Stranglehold

GOP Opposition To a Rules Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Plans of some Democrats to try to curb the House Rules Committee's stranglehold on legislation ran into some formidable Republican opposition today.

The plans may be a major subject of consideration at a meeting Wednesday of Republicans now serving in the House or elected to the new Congress convening Jan. 4.

In brief, a group of Democrats with leadership blessing wants to limit to 21 days the time during which the Rules Committee may hold up bills approved by other committees. After 21 days, the speaker could recognize a qualified member to call up such bills, regardless of the Rules Committee's opposition.

Pneumonia Is Fatal To Bendix

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actor William Bendix is dead. And so, in a way, is Chester A. Riley, the pug-faced, soft-hearted factory worker he made famous in television, radio and the movies.

Bendix succumbed Monday at Los Angeles Good Samaritan Hospital to lobar pneumonia, complicated by a stomach ailment. He was 58.

At his bedside were his wife of 37 years, Therese, 58; daughters Stephanie, 20, and Lorraine, 30, and Mrs. Alan Ladd, with whose late actor husband Bendix once starred.

During his career, Bendix played characters ranging from brutal villains to everybody's pal.

To millions of fans of "The Life of Riley" television show, Bendix' death was a double loss. It removed Chester Riley, the harried father.

Bendix' wife once admitted to an interviewer: "Chester Riley and Bill Bendix are, alike in a lot of ways."

"Bill's bluff manner doesn't let outsiders know what he is like at all. He has all the kindness and desire to help others that Riley is noted for. Sometimes, when I watch a Riley show, I say to myself, 'You'd think the writers lived with us.'"

No German Victory In Bulge Win

NEUBERG, Germany (AP)—The German general who was ordered to capture Bastogne 20 years ago said today had his mission succeeded, it still would not have won the Battle of the Bulge for Hitler.

On Dec. 16, 1944, Field Marshal Gerd von Rundstedt threw 250,000 of Germany's crack troops into a massive onslaught on thin U.S. defenses in the Ardennes Forest. The German objective was to cross the Meuse River and drive to Brussels and Antwerp.

Gen. Heinrich von Lueftwitz, commanding the 57th German Armored Corps, was ordered to take Bastogne, a small Belgian frontier town at an important road junction. It had to be secured to safeguard the attackers' further advance, Lueftwitz said.

"It was a desperate effort doomed from the outset," said Lueftwitz, now 68. "The terrain was wholly unsuitable for any major attack. The Ardennes Mountains, rolling, forested country deeply cut by steep and twisting valleys of mountain streams, had few roads on which our armor could move."

"When we attacked, fog strangled the Allied air operations. But any military leader of common sense should have known that the Allies' air superiority would finally win the battle."

"Under these circumstances, capturing Bastogne or not didn't make much difference in the over-all picture."

"After easily overrunning the American defenses, my troops advanced quickly toward Bastogne, which we were to reach on the evening of the 18th."

"That evening intelligence reported to me that they had intercepted American radio signals ordering the 101st U.S. Airborne Division from Reims into Bastogne. It became a race between us and the Americans of who would be in Bastogne first."

A panzer commander, Lt. Gen. Fritz Bayerlein, telephoned Lueftwitz around 11 p.m. that he was only 5 kilometers — 3 miles — northeast of Bastogne.

Bayerlein had sent a reconnaissance party toward the American lines. It reported everything clear, and Bayerlein decided to advance on the reconnaissance path, a country lane, rather than the main concrete road.

"From what Bayerlein told me, he could have taken Bastogne at that hour practically without a shot," Lueftwitz said.

"But instead, after advancing a few hundred feet... heavy tanks sank axle deep into mud and got stuck. To reach the fringe of Bastogne it took Bayerlein until 3 p.m. Dec. 19."

"By that time the Americans had moved the 101st Airborne into Bastogne, and Bayerlein told me that he could not take it without heavy fighting and big losses."

Execution Date For Anderson

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — The Missouri Supreme Court today set Jan. 22 for the execution of Lloyd Lee Anderson, convicted of murdering a drug store delivery boy in a St. Louis robbery May 18, 1961.

A year ago, Dec. 9, 1963, the Supreme Court upheld Anderson's conviction and sentenced him to death in the gas chamber. But new appeals in the federal courts delayed the execution date of last Jan. 17.

Trial records showed Anderson, Clewiston Jones and a third Negro got $525 after beating and shooting Paul Speckart and killing the boy, Thomas Grupe, at the drug store.

The court denied a new hearing for Ruben Anderson, not related to Lloyd Lee Anderson, and so his execution date stands as the high court set it a month ago for Jan. 6.

The denial of a new hearing puts Ruben Anderson in position to appeal to federal courts. He was convicted of killing Anthony J. Schlader, a religious picture salesman, in St. Louis March 19, 1962.

The evidence showed Schlader, 72, was hit on the head with an iron pipe and then rolled down a stairway. His body was stuffed into a furnace.

Labor Making Strides

Short Work Week Progress Made

WASHINGTON (AP) — Organized labor, so far unsuccessful in persuading Congress to cut the 40-hour work week, is quietly winning the battle for shorter hours at the bargaining table.

Contracts covering eight million workers — 15 per cent of all wage and salary employees — provide for less than 40 hours, the AFL-CIO reports.

Legislators Start Tour In Sedalia

Twenty-three Missouri State Legislators on tour of educational facilities, institutions and other properties owned by the State of Missouri, made a brief stopover in Sedalia Tuesday morning. They were guests of Representative-elect Joe F. Rains for coffee and rolls at LeRoy's Steak House, Ninth and Limit.

The tour left Jefferson City shortly after 7 o'clock and arrived in Sedalia about 8:30 a few minutes late on the running schedule, but the Representatives, took additional time to visit with the Sedalians and then a "passing" glance at the fairgrounds as they left Sedalia. They expressed a desire to return later and make a more thorough inspection of the buildings and grounds.

With the exception of the transportation the various members of the group are paying their own expenses as they are not yet on the payroll of the State as Representatives until after Jan. 1, 1965. The purpose is to acquaint themselves more thoroughly with the State properties when they come up for discussion in connection with legislation.

The legislative group consisted of the following Representatives and their counties: Mrs. Sue Nelle Gault, Ozark; Fred H. Mangham, Jr., Andrew; M. E. Bauer, Harrison; Leland L. Berry, Newton; Marvin R. Case, Douglas; Wilson O. Childers, Oregon; Glenn Crockett, Clark; Boyd T. Croley, Scott; Dewey Hankins, Barry; Perry M. Lane, Dallas; Carol J. McCubbin, Miller; Carl M. Nicewoehner, Boone; Jack J. Schramm, St. Louis; Shuey Shaver, McDonald; Don E. Shaney, Putnam; Roydean E. Sims, Ralls; Dwaine Snider, Shelby; Stan Thomas, Jr., Clay; George D. Weber, St. Louis; Frank Wells, Johnson; Lloyd J. Baker, Randolph; Joe F. Rains, Pettis. The group is in charge of Bernard "Doc" Simco, Representative from Callaway County.

The Sedalia group consisted of Cecil Owens, president of the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce, Sam Boyle, executive secretary of the Chamber of Commerce; Wilbert C. Askew, newly appointed Secretary of the Missouri State Fair; Dick Monsees, of the Farm Bureau; George H. Scruton, Editor of the Sedalia Democrat; George Ray of the REA; Dan Robinson of the Bryant Motor Co.; Mr. and Mrs. Del Hecker, of Gillespie's; Mrs. Joe F. Viet Government Aid Bid At NATO Meet

Rusk Calls for Intimate Study On World Problems

PARIS (AP)—U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk called today for more intimate Allied consultations on world problems, a sympathetic reception to the concept of an Allied nuclear command, and concrete help for the hard-pressed South Viet Nam government.

Rusk told the winter ministerial meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization that the United States hopes its allies will give tangible help to South Viet Nam.

Conference sources quoted Rusk as explaining that the free world has a big stake in developments in Southeast Asia.

Rusk linked the Viet Nam problem with a number of others which he said called for more intimate consultation by the 15 NATO countries.

He proposed a system of consultation based on frequent meetings of deputy foreign ministers to allow the Allies to coordinate their policies earlier.

Rusk spoke up in favor of the multilateral force concept of mixed - manned surface ships armed with nuclear-tipped Polaris missiles.

He said the British variant of this idea—the Atlantic nuclear force—would receive full consideration.

Rusk, along with the foreign ministers of Britain, West Germany, Italy and the Netherlands, were meeting later tonight to discuss ways of advancing the Allied nuclear command idea.

Officials said the French were invited to this meeting largely procedural in aim.

At the meeting the ministers of the five nations are expected to fix a time, probably January, and a place for full-scale negotiations on the whole fleet idea. The Hague has been mentioned as a possible place. The meeting is expected to be on a deputy foreign ministers' level, at least until the final phase.

The United States, Britain and West Germany were pushing ahead with private negotiations here for setting up the command.

Rusk went to some pains to explain that Communist aggression in Southeast Asia was a problem for all of the free world.

He then expressed the hope that the nations gathered around the NATO table would help South Viet Nam in any way they could.

The whole discussion about the fleet has put France out of step with the other NATO allies.

France was left out of the planning by its own choice. U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk has told President Charles de Gaulle that American proposals for a mixed-manned nuclear fleet, or any arrangement growing out of that multilateral force would be left open for ultimate French participation.

Rusk, Britain's Patrick Gordon Walker and West Germany's Gerhard Schroeder scheduled a private meeting to discuss the nuclear command idea.

Bank Robbery Loss $10,000 to $12,000

SELIGMAN, Mo. (AP) — The loss in a holdup at the Bank of Seligman Monday was between $10,000 and $12,000, the Missouri Highway Patrol said.

Two young men forced three bank employees into a vault and escaped in a white car. A similar car was found later parked on Missouri 76 in Barry County. It had an Oklahoma license.

The name stuck.

"But the folks who live here sure aren't tightwads," Mrs. Parks said today.

Date Set To Shift Reserves

Completion Deadline Is March

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Pentagon is aiming to complete the revolutionary reorganization of the Army's Reserve forces in about 16 months, it was learned today.

Key officers of the National Guard and the Army Reserve have been told in secret briefings that the objective date for final action is the end of March 1966.

It is expected that Guard and Reserve outfits will go to summer training next year in their present form, some of these officers told The Associated Press.

The Army staff, aided by Guard and Reserve officials, already has begun the difficult job of working up solutions for the problems involved in shifting 150,000 Army Reservists and their units to the National Guard.

One of the first jobs to be handled is the drafting of a "troop list." This involves surveying the 4,000 Reserve units to decide which 2,000 or so will fit into the expanded Guard organizations, and how they will be distributed among the states.

Such a troop list — which is really only a beginning point for the reorganization — is not expected to be ready before mid-February. At that time, the states will know what units they will lose and what units they will gain.

Plans are being made to brief state governors, who have a powerful say under the law as to the disposition of the National Guard within their states.

Questions poured in on the Pentagon from reservists unsure of where they stand. Many of these questions cannot be answered now, on the basis of the skeleton plan outlined by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara last Saturday. Many will have to wait months for clarification.

Tightwad Bounces Back After Fire

TIGHTWAD, Mo. (AP) — The 42 residents of this western Missouri hamlet have proved there's no truth in its name.

Last Aug. 29 a truck backed into a gasoline pump in front of the W. E. Parks General Store and the resulting fire destroyed the building, its contents and Parks' adjoining residence.

Today Parks, one of Tightwad's founders 59 years ago, is back in business in a new 40-by-40 foot masonry building erected by him without labor cost by his friends and neighbors. They not only built the store but stuck around to help restock it.

Tightwad, on Rural Route 2 about 14 miles out of Clinton in Henry County, was supposed to have been named Edgewood.

The late Alpha Moore, then rural mail carrier for the route, once told Parks, "Don't be a tightwad. Treat these folks right."

The name stuck.

"But the folks who live here sure aren't tightwads," Mrs. Parks said today.

The contract will go to Joseph L. Pohl Contractor Inc., Nevada, Mo. Work will include construction of roads, wood-frame privies, change houses and information signs.

Ann Landers Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: The woman who described herself as "A mother who sacrificed everything for her children and received nothing in return" is responsible for my first letter to a newspaper.

It is my observation that these self-styled sacrificing mothers make emotional cripples out of their children. Their favorite theme is, "Look what I've done for you. Now do something for ME."

The "sacrificing mom" attaches herself like a barnacle. If a child shakes loose and becomes independent, "sacrificing mom" tries to make him feel guilty for "neglecting" her.

My mother was one of those "Sacrificers." It took years of therapy to straighten me out. I vowed if I ever had children I would never make them feel obligated to me. And I've kept that vow. I ask my children for nothing, yet they are attentive, considerate and loving.

Please, Ann Landers, keep telling mothers to live their own lives and leave their children alone. What more can parents ask than that their children are also their friends? — NO STRINGS ATTACHED.

Dear NO Strings: You have given your children a legacy of straight thinking to hand down to their children. How wonderful for all of you.

Dear Ann Landers: You are no friend to women, believe me. I almost dropped my eyeglasses in my coffee cup when I read your attack on wives who sometimes overlook a missing shirt button. I'm beginning to wonder if YOU have all your buttons, Ann Landers.

It so happens that my husband is an absolute nut about his shirts, so I check them carefully before I place them in the drawer. But what can I do when he puts on a shirt and a button pops off?

Last week it happened twice and you could have heard him hollering a block away. He refuses to admit he has put on weight and that his collars are getting tight.

Unfortunately, I'm not a for-tuneteller and I can't tell from looking at a button whether it's going to be equal to the strain. Please set my husband straight. —SWEET ADELINE.

Dear Addie: Sorry, Doll, but you don't need a crystal ball to check a button. All you need is a couple fingers. When you feel a weak little fella hanging by a few threads, get busy. A stitch in time can save more than nine. It can save a big fat fight.

Dear Ann Landers: My 12-year-old son is missing out on so much boyhood fun it is heart-breaking.

Danny would never go to camp or spend a night away from home because he wets the bed. When we go to visit relatives I carry a rubber sheet along, which is very embarrassing for him.

I have taken Danny to two doctors and they can find nothing physically wrong with him. I've tried pills, alarm devices and a dozen things advertised in magazines and papers. Nothing works. A few friends who have had the same problem tell me Danny will outgrow it.

Why would a child almost in his teens still wet the bed? What can be done? — HELP HELP HELP.

Dear H.H.H.: Now that the doctors have ruled out the possibility of a physical problem, face up to the fact that Danny's bed-wetting is a symptom of an emotional problem.

He is troubled about something and needs special counseling. Ask the school principal to direct you.

Your friends are right when they say Danny will eventually outgrow it. But outgrowing a symptom is not the same as solving the problem, and THIS should be your objective.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Seeking Pet Beagle With Cleft Palate

STUDIO CITY, Calif. (AP) — Willie, who people say is a most unusual beagle, is lost.

How will you know if you find him? Listen.

Willie, described as one of the only two dogs in the nation with a cleft palate, barks: "Darf, darf, darf."

Judith Bokelman said Sunday that a gardener left a gate open and her 2-year-old pet scampered off.

He was under treatment as an outpatient following surgery at the UCLA Medical Center when he made good his escape.

Lab director Norman Bleicher said that dogs born with a cleft palate seldom live long, and that scientists hoped to learn new methods of treatment by studying Willie, and, eventually, his offspring.

Liz's 'Son' Ready For Retirement

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Morgan Mason, after four months of acting the role of Elizabeth Taylor's son, is prepared to announce his retirement. He is nine.

This is one of the tidbits related by Morgan's mother, Pamela Mason, just returned from the Paris filming of "Flight of the Sandpiper." She had been suffering from laryngitis, a dread disease for one of the town's most avid talkers. She had recovered enough to deliver a few tart comments on the film and its participants.

Of her son's career, she reported: "He's back in school here and I never thought it would happen, but he's glad of it. I think he's had his fill of acting."

"It was a long, long picture: seven weeks in Monterey, two weeks here and nine weeks in Paris. I don't think he would have minded so much if he had been working all the time. But he would be called only two days a week."

"There were countless delays. At first they were working six days a week in Paris, but Elizabeth put a stop to that. And all of her bathing suit scenes in Monterey were re-shot because she finally lost 15 pounds."

Mrs. Mason said she only visited the set twice during the entire filming. Her absences were purposeful. For one thing, she didn't want Morgan to feel any conflict of authority between the director and herself.

"And also, people on the picture are terrified of me because I talk," she added.

She is just as happy that Morgan is now more interested in an aviation career, rather than acting. His father, James Mason, also hopes the boy doesn't grow up to be an actor.

Said Mrs. Mason: "Acting is not a satisfactory line of work for men. Most males like to be men of action. But an actor's most significant action is the result of control by other men — writers, directors and producers. So they can't really have much satisfaction in their profession."

Theft Losses Provision In New Tax Law

A "one hundred dollar deductible" provision on personal casualty and theft losses was part of the 1964 tax law.

As explained today by E. O. Bookwalter, District Director of Internal Revenue, the first $100 of each personal casualty or theft loss will not be deductible on Federal income tax returns.

A husband and wife filing a joint return will have to meet but one $100 deductible limit for each separate casualty or theft in which they either jointly or separately suffer a loss. However, if they file separate returns, each will have to meet the $100 floor for each separate loss.

Business losses will continue to be fully deductible Mr. Bookwalter said. In cases where there is damage to a car used for both business and pleasure, the $100 deductible will only apply to that portion of the loss charged to personal use.

Assume in such a case that the business loss is $250 and the personal loss is $300. The $250 loss attributable to the business use is fully deductible. However, the new law permits only $200 of the $300 personal part of the loss to be deducted on tax returns.

Mr. Bookwalter said that the property losses arising from fire, storm or other casualty or theft are covered by the law. Deductions may be taken only on that part of the loss not re-

Safe Driving Magic Show Set At S-C

A unique method of teaching safe driving principles to high school students will be demonstrated in Sedalia on Wednesday (Dec. 16) when a performance of "Safety Magic" will be given at Smith - Cotton High School. The show is scheduled to start at 8:45 a. m. and will last for about 50 minutes.

The program, featuring Lt. Carl S. Pike, currently on leave from the Kent County Sheriff's Office, Grand Rapids, Mich., is making a tour of the United States under the sponsorship of the American Trucking Association, Inc. Arrangements for his visit to Sedalia were made by the Missouri Bus and Truck Association, which is handling Lt. Pike's 17-day tour of Missouri Schools.

Lt. Pike, who at one time was a professional magician, demonstrates that there is a trick to everything, including safe driving. He uses his 13 years' experience as a police officer and an expert in traffic safety to give a brief talk on traffic accidents and how to avoid them, citing true stories of cases on which he has worked to drive home his points.

As a visual illustration of the value of practicing safe driving habits, the magician-policeman performs more than a dozen magic tricks, each of which demonstrates one of the rules of safe driving.

Having traveled in all of the 48 contiguous states since starting his tour ten years ago, Lt. Pike has appeared before audiences totaling more than 3½ million.

His presentation has been endorsed by many educational and civic organizations, including the New York University Driver Education and Safety Institute, and the Michigan Association of Insurance Agents. In addition, he has received the commendations of state governors, and police and education officials in many states for his work in safety education.

Ultimatum

This he was determined to do. By Dec. 18, the German ring had closed around Bastogne.

The American riflemen, machine gunners and bazooka men dug in and stood off assault after assault.

A heavy fog kept the U.S. Air Force grounded. There was no air support — and transport planes couldn't get through to drop supplies.

On Dec. 22, three Germans — two officers and an enlisted man — approached the American lines under a flag of truce.

They delivered an envelope containing two sheets of paper. These were brought back to McAuliffe in his cellar command post back in the town.

He has those two sheets still, locked away in a strong box. He took them out and reread them as he reminisced.

One sheet held a neatly typed message in German. The other was a duplicate in English. They were addressed to the U.S. commander of the encircled town of Bastogne.

They told McAuliffe he was surrounded — which he already knew all too well — and said surrender was the only possibility "to save the encircled U.S.A. troops from total annihilation."

Unless he surrendered in two hours, the message said, a German artillery corps and six heavy antiaircraft artillery battalions were ready to blow up the Americans.

It was signed "The German Commander."

McAuliffe said that although he was indignant, he decided to send the Germans a formal communication and that he had his one-word reply typed on a piece of paper.

Col. Joseph H. Harper, now a retired major general here, carried back the "nuts" message to the still blindfolded Germans. Harper told the German leader what it said. The German said he knew the word, but didn't understand the context.

"It means the same as 'Go to hell,' do you understand what that means?" Harper told the German.

The fog lifted enough to allow an airdrop that day and on Dec. 24, McAuliffe said.

As he recalls it, the climactic assault came about 3 a. m. Christmas morning. A new panzer division attacked from west of the town.

The next night, Dec. 26, an American tank column broke through, and the siege was over.

McAuliffe said his losses had totaled 4,000 of his 14,000 men — dead, wounded, and badly frost-bitten from long exposure.

What is his lasting impression from those days?

"The courage and determination of the American soldier," the general said.

His summation: "We fought a good battle, and the Lord held me by the hand."

A lot of good-natured needling should soon be over for Sheriff Emmett Fairfax, who had his topcoat stolen last Friday night at LeRoy's Steak House, 905 South Limit.

The coat turned up Monday at the same spot from where it had been removed. On learning the coat was the sheriff's property, the thief apparently had second thoughts and returned it.

Mrs. Heckart is a sister of Representative Crockett of Kahoka, in Clark County.

The group is traveling by Greyhound bus and is escorted by State Highway Patrolmen with a patrol car leading and a second following the bus.

Tuesday they visited Warrensburg at the State College, then to Kansas City, to see the Kansas City University of Missouri and other institutions, and to St. Joseph to see the State Hospital and other facilities, as the first leg of the three-day tour.

Accidents

Two cars were involved in an accident at Ninth and Ohio at 3:43 p. m. Monday.

Police reported that the vehicles involved were a 1961 Ford, driven south on Ohio slowing to a stop by Ronnie Miller, 19, 1021 South Harrison, and a 1956 Ford, driven south on Ohio by Robert F. McDonald, 17, 1012 East 16th.

The deck lid and rear bumper of the Miller car were damaged as were the headlight and front bumper of the McDonald car.

McDonald received a police summons for careless and imprudent driving and is to appear in police court.

A hit-and-run motorist damaged the left rear fender of a 1964 Pontiac parked near Sixth and Kentucky and owned by Larry C. Callis, 1011 East 14th. Monday. Callis reported that the accident happened sometime between 2 and 5:30 p. m.

A minor mishap at Fifth and Massachusetts damaged two cars at 11:53 a. m. Monday.

Police reported a 1959 Plymouth, being driven east on Fifth by Dorothy E. McFatrach, 45, 511 South Massachusetts, and a 1963 Chevrolet, driven by Sandra Nicholson, 24, Route 1, LaMonte, were in collision as the Nicholson auto pulled from a parking space.

Damaged were the right side of the McFatrach car and the left front of the Nicholson car.

Fires In City

A defective flue caught fire at 10:29 a. m. Tuesday at a vacant house under repair at 906 West Fourth. Howard Robinson is the owner of the residence.

Firemen extinguished the blaze and reported no loss.

Firemen responded to a trash fire alarm in the backyard of 2228 First Street Terrace at 11:20 a. m. Tuesday, but the blaze was out when they arrived. There was no damage.

Area Fires

An early morning blaze at the DeBacker greenhouse in Warrensburg, Monday, destroyed the workroom of the business. The fire was discovered by Mr. and Mrs. J. F. DeBacker, who reside next door to the greenhouse, after they heard a "muffled noise" and went to investigate.

The destruction not only included the frame building which is north of the greenhouse, but all its contents of tools, paint, fertilizer, insecticides and seeds for early spring planting valued at more than $700.

Many windows in the greenhouse were broken from the intense heat and many plants and all cut flowers were lost.

The losses are believed to be several thousand dollars in the fire loss and the loss and damaged to plants, many which were being prepared for the Christmas season.

Mr. and Mrs. DeBacker are former Sedalians. Mrs. DeBacker is a sister to Phillip Pfeiffer of the Pfeiffer Floral Co.

S-C Debaters Fail to Qualify In Final Round

The Smith-Cotton debate squad established a strong record but failed to qualify for the final rounds at the William Chrisman Speech and Debate Tournament held in Independence this past weekend. Walter J. McCormick, director of forensics, said today.

Kenny Fine and Terry Feig won five of their six rounds of Championship Debate and would have qualified for the quarter-final round if their speaker ratings had been four points lower. Kenny and Terry defeated debate teams from Richmond, Parkview, Washington of Bethel, Kansas, Hickman, and Jefferson City.

John Owen and Arthur Hoffman, last year's Missouri state champion debaters, both missed qualification for the final round of extemporaneous speaking by only one ballot.

Fifty schools from four states competed at this year's Chrisman Tournament, with 12 of those 50 being out-of-state schools.

Music Club Holds Annual Yuletide Tea

Helen G. Steele Music Club met Dec. 9, for its annual Christmas program and tea. Chairmen for the program were Mrs. J. W. Watts, Mrs. George Lovercamp, and Mrs. Kelley Williams.

New members also appeared on the program. The following numbers were presented: reading of the Christmas message, by Mrs. Arthur J. Morgan, Mrs. Morris Brown, Mrs. Ray Lippard, Mrs. Richard H. Monsees, Mrs. A. J. Simpson, Mrs. W. H. Bingaman, and Mrs. Lee Deason; vocal duet, "Star of the East," Kennedy, "Christmas Lullaby," Rodgers, by Mrs. James Richardson, and Mrs. Keith Zahringer, with Mrs. Carl Wehrli, accompanist; piano solo, "Christmas Medley," by Mrs. Gary Schwartz; "Christmas in Africa," by Miss Mary Hurlbut, former missionary in Angola, Africa.

At this time of year in Africa, the people are having the warmest weather of the year, according to Miss Hurlbut, so snow is unknown to them. Very few, if any, Christmas trees are used and not too many presents exchanged since the daily wage is about 17 cents, and prices of merchandise available is quite high. Usually an animal is butchered and fresh meat, a most welcome gift, is often given by the people to their families and friends. Nothing is said about Santa Claus, however, the Christmas story is enacted by the people with the children of kindergarten age taking most of the leading roles. Familiar Christmas carols are sung in both Portuguese and their native tongue. In closing, Miss Hurlbut sang several carols and wished members a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year as the African people would express it.

Mrs. M. O. Stevens, hymn of the month chairman, gave the background of the December hymn, "Angels From the Realms of Glory" and led members in singing the hymn, with Mrs. Paul Berthouex, accompanist.

Mrs. M. L. Edwards, president, presided over a short business meeting.

The afternoon closed with the traditional Christmas tea. The club house was decorated in keeping with the holiday season. The dining table held a centerpiece of red carnations with lighted red tapers. Mrs. Edwards and Mrs. L. H. Hodges served. Members of the social committee, Mrs. William A. Schien and Mrs. C. W. Mathieson, chairman, assisted in the serving.

The next program will be on Jan. 13. Its title will be "Flying High" with Mrs. Lloyd Knox, Mrs. L. H. Tempel, and Mrs. Hugh Jones, chairmen.

Holds Annual Holiday Lunch

Garden Club 7 met Dec. 11 at the home of Mrs. Leonard Hall for its annual Christmas party. Dessert luncheon was served to 22 members. Mrs. Lon Slaton was assistant hostess.

Mabel Chambers, president, welcomed Mrs. Alma Lacer into membership.

The Christmas story was told by Mrs. Ray Logan. She also talked about Christmas traditions and legends.

A gift exchange was held. Exhibit winners were: "Christmas Wreath," Mrs. Hall, first; Mrs. Fred Schwenk, second; Mrs. E. J. Thomas, third; horticulture (pretty packages), Mrs. Joe Wilson, first; Mrs. Robert Neuman, second, Mrs. Schwenk, third.

Who's Calling on the Phone?

When city council ordered the Sedalia water department to bill and collect for garbage collection service this seemed a logical method to obtain the $1.00 per month fee. This was especially so since the ordinance also authorized, in event of non-payment of the garbage fee, that the department cut off the customer's water.

So far the system is working. Meter men are appearing to discontinue the water service of those who haven't paid the garbage fee. Irate persons who do not use the garbage collection service, are paying up rather than do without water.

No one yet has challenged the city's authority to use the water department as a means of leverage to collect bills. If this method is so effective, someone asks why doesn't the city use the water department as a collection agency for unpaid traffic tickets, or other delinquencies such as non-payment of building permits. In this instance the city might have its own water cut off for not getting a permit to renovate Convention Hall at Liberty Park and the City Hall remodeling.

The subject of the garbage collection fee being pressed upon those who do not use the service, and the neglect in many instances of the city to collect garbage the day after a holiday, has stirred up considerable conversational clamor in Sedalia.

Telephone calls to the mayor, the councilmen, and the sanitation department have been numerous, so numerous to the mayor that he has cried, "uncle." A Sedalian trying to get through to him by telephone was asked what her name was and whether her subject was garbage. If it was garbage, the caller was informed, by the secretary, the mayor would not be connected.

As a result, it is a toss up whether the sanitation department inspector or the editor is getting the most telephone and personal calls about garbage since the mayor evidently has the subject chalked off of his conversational routine at city hall.

Lacking the intervention of a private secretary, telephone calls to the editor go right through the exchange, and personal callers right up the stairs to the second floor. The stories we have been listening to are really fascinating from the standpoint of buck-passing. So, to get into the act, we are relaying some calls to the aldermen who are the people's intimate representatives in matters at city hall. We hope they don't become irritable about it. After all it's part of the job and may develop some earth-shaking solution to the garbage collection and fee dilemma.

By the way what ever happened to that promise to employ a $15,000 a year industrial expert and pay him out of the garbage money? GHS

Relax, All Is Normal

In California a rugged individualist insists on being chauffeured by an ape. Not some clown who drives like an ape, but a real ape.

In Minnesota, a group of real cool college kids have just been acclaimed cookie—or is it kookie?—champs by baking a wafer that weighed 2,300 pounds.

In California again, a determined driver was apprehended as he gunned his small foreign car down a runway at the Los Angeles airport in a valiant effort to keep up with a jetliner which was taking off. The motorist was on his way home from a party and mistook the runway for a freeway. It could happen to anyone.

A society which can keep its head in times like these is here to stay. We can look forward to what's ahead with high hope and renewed confidence.

Campus Trend to Political Hotbed?

By RAY CROMLEY
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON — Two months of University of California student rallies, picketing and sit-ins aimed at expanding campus political activity bring to mind how far I've seen students go politically in some foreign countries.

The California demonstrations and the civil rights activities organized by students at some schools arise the question: Will U. S. campuses eventually become the political hotbeds universities already have become in many other countries?

I was in Mexico City a number of years ago when the authorities were moving the University of Mexico from the center of the city to the suburbs. Mexicans told me this move was in large part aimed at getting the students outside of the capital so their political effectiveness would be reduced.

In an emergency, I was told, Mexican government troops could bar the students from entering the central city. As long as the university was in the center of town, such control was practically impossible.

The students had been held responsible for a major part in precipitating a series of Mexican political crises.

At another time, I was walking down a street in Havana, Cuba, (years before Castro), when a soldier with fixed bayonet forced me to make a detour. Unknowningly, I'd been about to talk on the sidewalk in front of the university. Its students had been involved in a series of demonstrations and political riots in which street cars and automobiles had been overturned and

NEW YORK JOURNAL AMERICAN: Reunion in New York. — New York University is going to reunite traditional associates—rare rats native to the rain forest of Kanga, raised here, and rare mosquitoes imported from their African habitat.

That is as it should be. They belong to each other, even though only the mosquitoes enjoy it.

Because of the intimate relationship, NYU hopes to solve some mysteries of malaria. That is as it should be, too.

Now if we could only get all the rats and all the mosquitoes together in laboratories life would be cleaner and dreamier.

For Leavenworths

If your name is Leavenworth, your grades acceptable and you want to go to Yale, the money is there waiting for you.

An alumnus of Yale named Leavenworth died in 1887 bequeathing a $900 yearly scholarship "to any student who meets the admission requirements and whose last name is Leavenworth."

Yale's problem is to find the Leavenworth's. There has not been a taker since before World War II. The unused money has been returned to capital and is now drawing interest and amounts to $25,000.

Yale also has competition. Hamilton College in New York state also has a Leavenworth scholarship. It has two Leavenworth's, a freshman and a junior drawing from its $26,238 fund.

Yale has finally resorted to newspaper advertising in search of Leavenworth's. So, if your last name is Leavenworth and you want to go to Yale, study hard, and step forth and claim the scholarship.

destroyed. The Cuban government had isolated the campus with a ring of soldiers.

In Panama, it was a group of students, infiltrated by Communists, who set off the publicized Panama Canal Zone rioting.

In Saigon recently, students rioting reportedly played a part in forcing Maj. Gen. Nguyen Khanh to give up the presidency of South Viet Nam. Some of these students told me they planned to increase their political activity.

In the years I lived in Japan before World War II, the universities and colleges were hotbeds of political opposition despite strong efforts by the police. At one time, many of the schools had Communist cells. Many schools likewise had extreme nationalist student groups.

In China in World War II, I learned from Mao Tse-tung's men that the Red leader's own political activist beginnings were hotbeds of political opposition despite strong efforts by the police. At one time, many of the schools had Communist cells. Many schools likewise had extreme nationalist student groups.

None of this is to imply that student political activity in the countries I've reported from is always either left wing or right wing. I do mean to suggest that in many foreign countries, student political activity has been strong enough to help overthrow governments.

In the foreign countries I have been in, the students (right wing, left wing or whatever) usually were prepared to resort to violence in the heat of demonstrations. This was true, however moderate their leaders intended to be when the movements were organized.

Look Now to 14th Amendment Ruling

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court unanimously has given its most important civil rights decision since it declared public school segregation unconstitutional 10 years ago. The 1954 decision was also unanimous.

The court Monday upheld the constitutionality of a key section of the much fought-over 1964 Civil Rights Act which forbids racial discrimination in places of public accommodation.

It ruled: hotels and motels must serve all races if their customers or food move in interstate commerce. There may be some exceptions which don't affect interstate commerce. They'll be few. The court didn't spell out details.

The court could have reached its decision in one of two ways or both: the Constitution's commerce clause gives the government power to regulate interstate commerce; the 14th Amendment guarantees all citizens equal treatment.

The court based its decision on the commerce clause. But the road to Tuesday's action was 81 years long.

After the Civil War quick action was taken to give newly freed Negroes equal rights. The 13th Amendment to the Constitution (1865) said they were citizens; the 14th Amendment (1868) said all citizens must get equal treatment; and the 15th (1870) said Negroes could not be denied the right to vote.

Between 1866 and 1875 Congress passed six civil rights acts to carry out the intention of those amendments. One, in 1875, said Negroes must get equal treatment in inns, amusement places and other public accommodations.

This was meant to backup the 14th Amendment. But Negroes were discriminated against. It took them eight years to bring five such cases before the Supreme Court.

The court skipped over the commerce clause which it could have used — the power of the government to regulate interstate commerce — and concentrated on the 14th Amendment's guarantee of equal treatment.

It ruled that the 1875 act forbidding discrimination in public accommodations — under the 14th Amendment's equal protection — only intended to forbid states to pass discriminatory laws. The court held that it didn't apply to individuals, like hotel or theater owners, who were thus left free to discriminate.

But one of those justices in 1883 — John Marshall Harlan — dissented. He said an inn-keeper is "charged with certain duties and responsibilities to the public. The public nature of his employment forbids him from discrimination."

But after the 1883 decision of the court Congress passed no other major legislation against discrimination in public accommodations until the summer of 1964, even though after the 1883 decision states piled up segregation laws.

When President John F. Kennedy sent his civil rights bill to Congress in 1963 he said, "There is an age-old saying that 'property has its duties as well as its rights.'"

Kennedy asked in his message to Congress that discrimination in public accommodations be forbidden under both the commerce clause and the 14th Amendment.

One of the main, and most persistent arguments against the 1964 act was that telling businessmen they had to serve all kinds of people would deprive Americans of personal and property rights. The act was passed after a record Senate filibuster and signed into law by President Johnson last July 2.

It ran into some quick defiance and test cases were rushed to the court. Tuesday's unanimous opinion was written by Justice Tom Clark.

Instead of invoking the 14th Amendment, thus undoing the 1883 opinion, since few motels or hotels can operate without state or city regulation, Clark based his opinion on the power the commerce clause of the Constitution gives the government to regulate interstate commerce.

Some of the other justices, although all agreed in upholding the 1964 act's constitutionality, thought Clark should have ruled under both the commerce clause and the 14th Amendment.

Perhaps later, under some other kind of test of the act not imagined now, the court will also rule under the 14th Amendment.

Homework Is No Gift

By Susan Light
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

DEAR MRS. LIGHT—The big push is on again. I mean loading the kids up with homework for the Christmas holidays. For the last five years I've spent the week between Christmas and New Year's chauffeuring my youngsters to and from the local library as well as at least one trip over icy roads to the nearest city library.

One Christmas vacation we went to Florida, and the kids spent more time soaking up knowledge than soaking up sun.

This year even my sixth grader has a term paper to do. I suppose the first grader will be next.

The lights burn at our house until all hours, and not just on the Christmas tree. The whole things burns me up.

It seems to me the holidays should be a time for rest, relaxation and family fun. Kids should be able to forget school for just a little while. Parents, too!

Why are teachers such Scrooges about this holiday homework bit? I'm sure they don't spend THEIR vacation grading papers and making out exams.—NO CHRISTMAS SPIRIT

ANSWER: You've said it better than I could. Why ARE teachers such Scrooges about holiday homework? It's enough to make even the kids who love school say, "Bah, Humbug!"

As a weak defense, perhaps some of the assignments your children have are the long-term type that actually should be finished BEFORE Christmas. Their teachers may be using the holidays only as a bonus period for completion of a notebook or term paper. Even as you and I, most youngsters are procrastinators. They wait until the last minute to do a six-week assignment, then burt, the midnight oil. Are you SURE some of this Christmas work wasn't assigned in October?

Nevertheless, I've heard enough complaints about Christmas homework to suspect that many of them are legitimate. And as a parent, I've suffered through a few homework binges during the holidays myself. By and large, I don't believe this homework was the result of putting off till Christmas what should have been done by Halloween or Thanksgiving.

How about it, teachers? Why not give all of your pupils a real Christmas present this year — NO homework!

THE WELL CHILD

By Caution, Hemophiliac Can Lead Normal Life

By Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Association

A few decades ago very few hemophiliacs—or bleeders, as they are called—lived to be 20. Many of them now live nearly normal lives. Hemophilia was once called "the disease of kings" because inbreeding in royal families of Europe produced a large number of persons with this hereditary defect.

This disease is transmitted by mothers who are not bleeders to their sons. The disease may skip several generations. In about 30 per cent of all bleeders there are no known hemophiliac ancestors.

At least 11 elements in the blood are involved in clotting. In some bleeders, the anti-hemophiliac factor known as Factor VIII and in others Factor IX is deficient or absent. Since many parents elect to have their sons circumcised before they leave the hospital, it is important to test the child's clotting time before having his done.

When hemophilia is not discovered in this way, suspicion is aroused when a child is found to bruise easily or when a minor scratch bleeds profusely. In some children the diagnosis is made when he loses his first tooth. Aspirin should never be given to a bleeder because in such a person it may cause a severe hemorrhage.

Once the diagnosis is made it is important to protect the infant from minor cuts and bruises.

The sides of his crib, playpen and high chair should be padded and he must not be allowed to have toys with sharp edges. Toys made of fabrics, rubber or soft plastic are best. The child's nails must be trimmed frequently so that he cannot scratch himself. Even scratching an insect bite may start a hemorrhage. When he is old enough to be told about his disease, he must be conditioned to follow interesting but sedentary pursuits. The goal is protection without overprotection.

Many hemophiliacs have poor teeth. This may be due in part to eating soft foods and not brushing the teeth for fear of starting a hemorrhage. They should brush with a soft brush, but if a tooth must be pulled it should be done in a hospital. Bleeding episodes are treated with blood plasma, whole blood transfusion or concentrated Factor VIII depending on the circumstances.

Recent studies indicate that if Factor VIII is given to a bleeder at birth, it may simulate a steady production of this vital element and prevent the child from being a bleeder. This cannot be done later in life. Parents with a son who is a bleeder are advised to contact the National Hemophilia Foundation, 175 Fifth Ave., New York, N.Y. 10010, for more detailed information.

The Mature Parent

Share Responsibility

By Mrs. Muriel Lawrence
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Dear Mrs. Lawrence: For the last three nights in a row my 16-year-old girl has not come home until after 2 a.m. She has been keeping these late hours ever since she started dating a 22-year-old we have met only once. Her father says I can't control her because I have spoiled her. I don't know where to turn for help. Though she knows I am sick with worry and cannot sleep, all she says when I tell her this is that she has her own life to live.

ANSWER: You need anger, fellow woman. Anger at your husband. Anger at your child.

As it is, you are taking all the responsibility for her. You have allowed her and her father to place it all on you. He is her parent, too, you know. And she is not a baby. She is quite old enough — and so is your husband — to understand the connection between these late hours and her health. Why do you plead with them to take their shares of responsibility by whining at them about your worry and sleeplessness? You are being unfairly treated. And when people insist on treating us unfairly, it is time to get angry.

Do you know what anger is? It is awareness of our limits; our limits of patience, our limits of strength, of what we can do. And it is to be felt when other people demand that we exceed these limits.

If we can't be aware of the limits of our strength, we can't become angry at a husband or child who overburden us. We can't champion ourselves by crying out to them. "O.K., I've had it now! I've taken my share of responsibility in this situation — and now it's up to you two! I'll rally around if Jane's behavior gets her into trouble or makes her sick, but now I'm through. I'm going to the movies and when I come home I intend to go to sleep. This is your problem now."

Boy, do we American women still have a long way to go!

When we see pictures or movies of primitive women staggering along under monstrous burdens of firewood while their menfolk stride along ahead of them carrying nothing but themselves, we shake our heads and think, "Oh, poor things. How civilized are we in comparison!" We really have no right to this patronizing thought. Burdens of responsibility for children are much heavier than burdens of firewood. Yet you, my friend, who wouldn't dream of staggering along under the weight of firewood while your husband walked in front of you carrying nothing have said not one word to demand that he carry his share of parental responsibility.

Letters To The Editor

L. L. STUDER (Mayor of Sedalia) — Regarding your editorial which appeared in your issue of Dec. 12 with respect to the garbage collection fee of $1 per month.

You have stated in this editorial that property owners who have unrented apartments or houses are protesting over a charge for service not rendered, and which certainly has created the impression that they are required to pay the fee of $1 per month.

The City most certainly does not expect or require the owners of unrented apartments, or houses, to pay the fee. All that the owners of vacated property need to do is to notify the Sanitation Officer that the apartments, or houses, have been vacated and then the Water Company will be notified to omit the collection fee.

Miss Bonnie Jean Wissman Weds Mister Leo George Dick, Jr.

Mrs. Leo George Dick, Jr.

Altar arrangements of white gladioli, holly and red carnations formed the setting at Sacred Heart Catholic Church at ten o'clock Saturday morning, Nov. 28 for the marriage of Miss Bonnie Jean Wissman to Mr. Leo George Dick, Jr. The Rev. F. C. Laudick, pastor, read the double ring ceremony.

Emerald palms were placed at the communion rail. White satin bows with clusters of holly, marked family pews. An aisle runner of white covered the center aisle.

Things Better For Most People Than Ever Before

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Along Main Street and in the shopping centers the customers apparently couldn't care less what Wall Street may be worrying about.

In the stores the shoppers are interested only in the way things are today. And today they're better for most people than they ever have been before.

Dr. N. J. Knutz Gives Program For Nautilus

Dr. N. J. Knutz, chiropractor, spoke to LaMonte Nautilus Club, a Missouri Federated Women's Club, Dec. 9 at the home of Mrs. Lee Hudson. His subject was "Revolution in Healing Arts."

Dr. Knutz also discussed a project of LaMonte Lions Club, to restore the Boy Scout cabin and grounds in LaMonte. The grounds, he explained, will also be used as a picnic grounds for the town. Members expressed interest in assisting with the project.

The program committee presented the topic, "Public Affairs and Health." A short program of recorded Christmas music was given.

Mrs. Elan Keller, presided and read "The Two Stars," and article from Sunshine Magazine. Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag was repeated.

The hostess served refreshments.

Mrs. John Littles will be January hostess. A program on religions will be given by the program committee. Mrs. Clyde Heffelfinger, chairman.

Bridal Shower Honors Miss Evelyn Geiser

Miss Evelyn Geiser, Tipton, was honored at a bridal shower Sunday afternoon, Dec. 6 given by Mrs. Bill Lehman and Miss Mary Lou Elminger at the home of Mrs. Lehmann.

Games were played and refreshments were served to the 14 guests. The honoree received many lovely gifts.

Miss Geiser, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Geiser, is to become the bride of BT 3 Harlan L. Harris of the U. S. Navy, stationed in San Diego, Calif., on Dec. 26. Harris is a son of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Binkley, California.

Merchants couldn't be happier about this contented state of their customers' minds. Retail sales are booming in most sections of the nation. Most of the larger stores seem assured of the biggest December ever, and that will mean the biggest year of sales ever, because the 11-month total was already ahead of last year.

Not only are sales higher, but store traffic also is setting records, as you may have noticed when you ventured forth. More people seem to be buying more things.

Many merchants report customers are upgrading their purchases, demanding higher quality merchandise than in years past and willing to pay the higher prices.

The big department stores and chains are now talking of up to 11 per cent larger dollar sales this December than last. This could add nearly $5 billion dollars to their sales for the year. And the Census Bureau says that in the first 11 months of 1964 these stores took in $15.6 billion, compared with $14 billion in the same period of 1963.

Merchants credit many things with giving the big boost to spending. One is the increase in take-home pay due to the federal income tax cut, which just now is showing up at the stores. Another is the general rise in personal incomes due to the increase in the number of jobs and to the higher wage scales that many workers are enjoying this year.

Most potent perhaps is the financial markets, labor, general prosperity and the feeling of confidence in continuing good times that most consumer intention surveys reveal. There is also the general attitude of let's wait for the uncertainties that fret Wall Street to take visible form.

Stock traders worry about what might happen a few months hence — slowing of the long-time climb in business activity, inflation, monetary problems besetting the international mands that could squeeze corporate profits.

Shoppers—and many of them also own stocks — figure all of this is yet to be faced, if ever.

Stock traders worry about what might happen a few months hence — slowing of the long-time climb in business activity, inflation, monetary problems besetting the international mands that could squeeze corporate profits.

Shoppers—and many of them also own stocks — figure all of this is yet to be faced, if ever.

Garden Club 4 Holds Christmas Party Friday

Garden Club 4 held its Christmas party and dinner at Flat Creek Inn Friday.

As the guests arrived they placed their exchange gifts on a table covered with a white net cloth with a wide border of white felt and gold braid. Appliqued on the cloth were clusters of red, green and gold bells, embroidered with sequins and beads. The stems and leaves were of green felt. The table was centered with a tree of white net. Mrs. Floyd Knerl made the table covering.

Dinner was served to 19 members seated around a "J" shaped table centered with a green topiary tree with red and white rosebuds. The trees were made by Mrs. C. R. Walker.

Other handmade decorations were, a candy box decorated to resemble a drum, a Santa standing on top of the box, his suit and cap made of red hot candies and his whiskers and beard made of marshmallows. Mrs. Walker also made this.

A red and green boot and little gold reindeer embroidered with sequins and beads were made by Mrs. Knerl. A mechanical Santa his eyes lighting up, was sitting on top of a little house ringing a little gold bell he held in one hand and waving the other hand filled with tiny wrapped gifts. Sprays of holly down the center of the tables with red and green hurricane lamps completed the decorations.

Candy canes tied with red satin ribbons were favors.

Mrs. Anna Phelan gave the invocation.

Mrs. Sherman Beckley, president, opened the meeting by reading "The Christmas Story."

Mrs. Ida Harriman, program chairman, with Mrs. J. L. Hiltenburg at the piano, led in group singing of carols.

Mrs. Harriman distributed the gifts.

The January meeting will be held with Mrs. J. L. Hilttenburg, Mrs. Anna Finch and Mrs. Ralph McCovan in charge.

Now try... The smoothest whisky ever to come out of Canada!

Next time you're making the drinks, instead of your usual whiskey, use this superior import.

Do what thousands of smart drinkers have done: Compare Windsor Canadian with your usual whiskey. Make two drinks, one with your "usual," the other Windsor. You'll be amazed—as thousands are—at the extra smoothness of Windsor. There are three reasons for this!

1. Windsor is distilled and aged in dry, crisp, mile-high Rocky Mountain air.
2. Windsor is made from Western Canadian grain, hearty and vigorous.
3. And the water is clear pure glacial water.

No wonder Windsor is the smoothest whisky ever to come out of Canada.

Yet this uniquely smooth, elegant import is priced right in line with leading popular-priced whiskeys. Try it.

Burton, Oelschlager Back As Academic Team Choices

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Oklahoma guard Newt Burton and Kansas fullback Ron Oelschlager are the top repeaters on the academic All-Big Eight football team announced today by the conference.

Burton, a pre-dentistry student also made the Academic All America last year, which is sponsored by the College Sports Information Directors of America.

Oelschlager, a pre-medicine major, made the academic all-league team for the third straight year. This fall he was awarded an Earl Blaik Graduate Fellowship by the National Football Hall of Fame, which each year honors the best scholar-football players in the NCAA districts.

At Convention Hall

Sonny Myers, Bob Geigel Into Wrestling Action

Sonny Myers and Bob Geigel will swing back into wrestling action tonight at Convention Hall and chances are good the here, catching Myers off guard. In the ensuing melee, Myers suffered a few bruises to his body, but was sorer because he was not prepared for the sneak assault.

Their pairing will highlight a four-event card scheduled to get under way at 8:15.

In mixed tag team action, with a heavyweight and girl wrestler on each side, Ron Reed and Jean Antoine will join forces to go against Tom Brown and Kay Noble.

In separate event, Reed will match power measures with Brown, while Noble will oppose the sturdy Antoine.

Myers is hard on the trail of the Central States championship once again, but first wants to settle accounts with the unruly Geigel. A convincing victory over the former Big Ten football player might put Myers in line for a title shot.

Geigel is prepared to pick up his assault on Myers where he left off when the two last clashed. The rough action figures as a test of Geigel's devious tactics and Myers' speed and skill.

Bob Geigel

two will spare no effort to resolve their ring differences.

Myers, now has added the jackknife hold to complement his favored sleeper, is miffed at the lowan for good reason. Geigel tore into the Missouri pro after their latest clash.

field members were Kansas State's Doug Dusenbury, the nation's r.o. 3 punter, and quarterback Glenn Baxter of Oklahoma State.

The offensive line, besides Burton, included ends Charles Doepke of Nebraska and Ron Harmon of Oklahoma; tackles Fred Elder of Kansas and Butch Metcalf of Oklahoma; and guard Carl Schreiner, Oklahoma.

The defensive team included ends Ker. Pigott of Iowa State and Rick McCurdy of Oklahoma, tackles Bill Hill of Oklahoma and Dave Langford of Kansas State; guards Bill Powell of Missouri and Sam Ramenofsky of Iowa State; linebackers Rod Cutsinger of Oklahoma State and Dave Voiles of Oklahoma; and defensive backs Vaughn, Dave Crandall of Kansas and Hale Irwin of Colorado.

Cutsinger played mostly offensive guard but gained enough support to make the defensive club. McCurdy and Voiles were the other repeaters from 1963.

Tigers Host To Boonville At S-C Gymnasium

The Smith-Cotton Tigers will host the Boonville High Pirates in a cage battle Tuesday evening in the Smith-Cotton gymnasium. The Tigers will be attempting to extend their win column to three straight and also to go above the .500 mark in the season's play.

The Tigers are fresh from a 65 to 57 clipping Rolla and a 54 to 27 swamping of Fulton in the Central Missouri Conference Tournament held last weekend at Jefferson City.

According to Tiger coach Earl Finley, Smith-Cotton needs to iron out several defensive faults to insure a first-class performance tonight.

Action will get underway at 6:30 when the Junior Varsity will take to the floor against the Boonville B-team. The varsity will follow.

OSU, Oklahoma Win In Big Eight Play

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Oklahoma State got an overtime victory at Texas and Oklahoma won at home against Hardin-Simmons in Big Eight basketball Monday night, offsetting Iowa State's lopsided defeat at New Mexico.

The winning right lifted the Big Eight over the break-even mark for the season, with 20 victories and 19 defeats against outside teams.

Two tough games are scheduled for Wednesday night, with Texas Tech's Southwest Conference title favorites at Oklahoma and potent Wyoming at Colorado. No games will be played tonight.

Flynn Robinson, highest scorer in Wyoming history, pushed his total to 1,480 points with 56 points in two games with Texas Tech and Oklahoma City last week.

Oklahoma wiped out a 41-33 deficit early in the last half and won 78-67 with Bill Whitlock scoring 22 points, 17 in the last half. Tom Flood had 17 for the Sooners, who evened their season record at 2-2.

Giardello Wins 15 Round Bout

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — It was like the old matador against the young, dangerous bull.

Middleweight champion Joey Giardello came perilously close to being gored but he called on every trick he learned in 16 years of pro battling to beat strong Rubin (Hurricane) Carter in his first title defense Monday night.

A rousing finish in the last five rounds of the 15-rounder earned the crafty, 34-year-old champion the unanimous decision over the muscular, 27-year-old second-ranking contender from Paterson, N.J., at Convention Hall.

Giardello was cut over the left eye and shaken by a jolting left hook in the fourth round. Carter had his big chance in that round but he blew it. Giardello absorbed several other solid left hooks to the jaw from his ever-threatening foe but Pal Joey always managed to slip away from the brink of disaster. There were no knockdowns.

"If I only could have made him fall," said Carter. "Just once, if I could have made him fall. That was the difference. I won it clear — at least 9 to 6 — but a fall would have clinched it."

"I had him on the hook but let him get off. He's cagey and takes a helluva punch. Look at the great fighters he's fought and none have put him down for the count."

"He fought my fight and didn't press as I expected him to press," said Giardello. "He didn't fight inside and made it easy for me. That had a lot to do with it."

Pittsburg broke loose and spread its margin to 14 points.

Junior Hi Teams Win Two Monday

By Bob Sheue

The Smith-Cotton junior high Bengals rolled over the Warsaw Wildcats, 56-32, in the freshman encounter, and ran up a 35-20 count in the eighth grade contest at Warsaw Monday night.

General aggressiveness and rugged work on the boards and the fact that S-C just outlasted its adversaries were dominant factors in the Bengal success story.

In both games the Bengals displayed a smoother type of ball handling and passing than they had in their previous contests. The Tiger defense had a new aggressiveness as it picked off many stray passes and broke many a Wildcat charge.

Smith-Cotton started fast in the freshman contest as they gained a lead in the opening moments and never relinquished it to their foes. Larry Thomas and Tom Munson contributed most of the Tiger tallies as they pulled the Wildcat defense outside with their long jumpers from the circle and the corner. The Wildcats trailed the locals 12-7 at the period's end.

The Bengals blew the ballgame wide open in the second quarter as they split the cords for 19 tallies, outscoring their opponents by ten. George Williams dumped in six quick scores and the Tigers were off and running. With good defensive coverage, and some fine ball handling by Mike Robertson, the Bengal bulge expanded to 31-16 at the intermission.

The third quarter proved to be the closest in the game, but the Tigers outscored the Wildcats by a basket in the period. Herb Jones and Munson completely controlled the boards for S-C.

The Bengals outscored Warsaw 11-4 in the final stanza of court action. Coaches Wes Sanders and Fred Long emptied their bench in this quarter to supply the young Tigers with game experience.

Tom Munson once again led the Bengal barrage on the bucket with 16 points. Thomas followed with 14 tallies, Williams 8, and Robertson and Jones bagged a half dozen each. Munson and Jones led in Bengal rebounding with nine and eight garners respectively. The freshman victory represents the team's third straight conquest in three games.

In eighth grade play the Tiger cagers secured their first vic-

The foul shooting of the Philadelphia 76ers and San Francisco's Wilt Chamberlain enabled the 76ers to defeat the Warriors in the only National Basketball Association game Monday night.

The 76ers hit on 39 of 43 foul shots for a 119-112 victory over the Warriors at Pittsburgh's Civic Arena.

The Warriors, on the other hand, missed nine of 29 charity tosses. All of the misses were by Chamberlain, who also made six and was the game's high scorer with 40 points.

tory of the young roundball season under Coaches Foster McGuire and Dick Rees. Again, the Tiger fast break, rebounding and defensive play were too much for Warsaw. Allan Browder, who captured game scoring honors with 12, also managed 19 rebounds, a figure surpassing the entire Wildcat total.

Browder started many fast scoring plays as he grabbed a rebound and then passed off to either Gregory or Zachary Patman or Chapman for the score. Patman and Chapman gathered six points each, while Miller and Gregory Patman both collected four tallies.

The Tiger junior high cagers will rest for a week before hitting the road again when they will travel to Jefferson City to tangle with Jays Monday, Dec. 21, at 6:15 p. m. at Jefferson City.

The freshman have already defeated the capital city boys once before while the eighth graders lost their contest to the Jays.

Up And Down Feeling For Wichita After Cage Game

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer
Whoops! That crazy-bouncing basketball has given Wichita an up-and-down feeling faster than you can say Cazzie Russell. Russell and the rebounding Michigan Wolverines floored No. 1-ranked Wichita 87-85 Monday night, less than 24 hours after the Wheatshockers had evicted the Big Ten club from the top spot among major college powers.

Wichita's first loss and North Carolina's 84-78 decision over ninth-ranked Vanderbilt promised another shake-up in the national ratings. The Top-Ten list underwent wholesale changes last week, as reflected in The Associated Press poll released today and based on results through last Saturday. Wichita, with four straight victories at that point, drew 23 of 33 first-place ballots and out-pointed once-beaten Michigan 309-279. The Wolverines, surprised by Nebraska 74-73 Saturday night, received five first-place ballots.

KC Third Baseman Is Charged With Child Abandonment

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Ed Charles, 31, third baseman for the Kansas City Athletics, has been charged with child abandonment in a paternity dispute with an unmarried woman. The woman contends he is the father of her 4-month-old son. Charles has denied he is the father.

The wolves may ask for a recount after Russell's brilliant second-half performance — which included the last-second winning basket — against Wichita. Cazzie dazzled the Shockers after intermission, scoring 23 of his game-high 28 points — six in the final 1½ minutes. The score was knotted at 85 — 16th tie in the seasaw struggle at Detroit — with four seconds to play when Wichita lost the ball on a bad pass. Russell's running one-hander dropped through the cords at the buzzer, giving the Wolverines their fifth victory.

Bob Lewis hit for 31 points, one more than teammate Billy Cunningham, at Greensboro, N.C., as North Carolina handed Vanderbilt its second straight setback. The Commodores lost to Virginia Tech 69-64 Saturday and tumbled from third to ninth in the AP poll. Vanderbilt is 3-2 on the season. The Tarheels have won five of seven.

Not one of last week's Top Ten teams held its position in this week's poll. St. Louis, upended by Missouri 72-56 Saturday night, slipped from fourth to 10th. San Francisco and Minnesota climbed into the Nos. 3 and 4 berths, respectively, and split four first-place votes.

UCLA: Duke; St. John's, N.Y., and Kentucky all advanced after successful week-ends. The Bruins, No. 5, trimmed Oklahoma State 68-52. The Blue Devils, No. 6, routed South Carolina 111-72; the Redmen, No. 7, nipped Miami, Fla., 79-77, and the Wildcats smashed Syracuse 110-77 to gain the No. 8 spot. Four teams which received votes in the weekly poll but failed to crack the Top Ten scored impressive home-court victories Monday night.

Pablo Casals Subject Of CBS Special

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK — "I could speak to all the people in the world, what would you say to them?" asked Isaac Stern.

Pablo Casals, described as the greatest cellist who ever lived, did not hesitate.

"I would ask them: Do you like war? I am sure all of those millions would say no. Then I would play a Bach piece for them."

This exchange was one of the many precious moments Monday night in a warm and moving CBS news special about the self-exiled Spanish musician who will soon be 88 years old.

The television audience heard that "Bach piece," and much more. There was Casals philosophizing, as he taught young musicians, making them repeat a few notes again and again until they achieved the exact inflection he sought.

Perhaps most rewarding was the leisurely talk with Casals in his Puerto Rico home with Stern, the great violinist, asking an occasional question.

"We are the leaves of a tree," Casals repeated several times, "and the tree is humanity."

It was this conviction that all humanity is related and must be free, that caused him to exile himself from his beloved Spain when Franco assumed power, to abandon his music for some years to work among refugees from dictatorships.

It was a fine hour which told much about the mind and heart of an unassuming little man with great gifts.

Somebody must get to work and figure out some way to harness the comedy talents of Jonathan Winters. He is probably one of our funniest, most inventive young men, and except for a rare flash here and there, it just doesn't show on television.

In his NBC hour Monday night there were a few moments. He
